We believe life's pleasures shouldn't come at the cost of our planet's precious resources. From the cocoa communities we work with to the way we package our products, find out more about our commitment to sustainability.

We've launched AWA by Magnum – an initiative that works to empower women in the cocoa farming communities of Côte d'Ivoire both socially and economically.

It's all part of our 2025 Cocoa Strategy. So far, we've committed to invest €25M into our wider cocoa impact programmes, with an emphasis on female-focused initiatives – because by investing in women, we're also investing in their families and communities.

By signing the Cocoa Forest Initiative, we're publicly committed to eliminating deforestation and forest degradation.

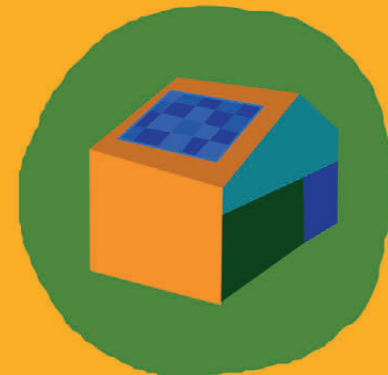

100% of the cocoa we use and 100% of the vanilla extract in our flavouring comes from Rainforest Alliance Certified farms.

We've pledged to plant 465,000 trees in the Ivory Coast. That's enough to cover an area almost 2.5 times the size of Paris.

We are sourcing 100% renewable grid electricity in our operations.*

GREYSTON BAKERY

Brownies we use come from Greyston Bakery in New York – Greyston create meaningful job opportunities for those who have experienced barriers to employment

PLANT BASED PACKAGING

Our tubs and lids are fully recyclable

FREE GRAZING

We have free grazing dairy on all our dairy products in the range

OUR INGREDIENTS

Ben & Jerry's has been about more than tasty ice cream filled with chunks and swirls. We work in close collaboration with our suppliers and customers, all the way from cow to cone!

Bananas of all shapes and sizes make their way into our tubs, which means that no delicious fruit goes to waste just because it's a little weird-looking! Plus, the skins have a second life as animal food.

All the eggs that go into our ice cream come from free-range and cage-free hens.

Our Caring Dairy programme ensures our milk and cream is produced in a way that makes for happy cows, happy farmers, and a happy planet.
